IS YOUR SOIL SICK?
No one would think of working a sick horse, yet there are farmers in every community who are continuing to work their sick soils, and with the usual result of poor crops.

Do you know that the trouble with the average soil is that it is sour? By this is meant that it is acid. In other words it has a trouble skin to collect sour stomach in man or green apple colic so common among the younger generation in the early summer.

None of our crops will grow to any success on sour soil. It works bad, breaks up cloddy and the clods cannot be mashed with anything less than a maul.

Fertilizing will help some, and lime is the corrective agent, but for the best results both should be used. With lime, when limestone and fertilizer are used on the same land the yield is larger than when either one of these is used alone.

To test your soil for acidity, get a nickel's worth of blue litmus paper from the drug store. Get a ball of the soil while it is moist and break it in halves. Place a strip of the paper on the one half then cover it with the other, pressing them down tightly and leave it this way for about five minutes. Then break the ball and look at the paper. If it has turned red your soil is sour, and it is high time that the use of lime be made a practice.

Tonsils and Rheumatism.
Rheumatism in its many forms is, according to Dr. Seymour Taylor, famous British specialist, the most dangerous disease with which physicians have to deal, more dangerous than even tuberculosis, cancer or blood disease. He notes that 75 per cent of young patients who are the victims of acute rheumatism also suffer from diseased tonsils, and asserts that "rheumatism affecting young children or adolescents leaves mitral stenosis (contraction of the mitral valve of the heart) as its most frequent and crimp-ling valvular affection."

SOUR SOILS AND HOW TO CURE THEM Liberal Application of Lime Is Always Beneficial.

(By G. J. Wilder.)

Soil acidity, or sourness in soils, is caused by poor ventilation or circulation of air within the soil itself. It is usually due to improper drainage, and exists largely throughout those soils which are low in vitality, and by this we mean those soils which are deficient in some of the essential elements of plant food.

As plants have the power or the ability to adapt themselves to certain living conditions just the same as people, we find the lower forms of plant and vegetable life only occupying those soils which are sour. That is the reason we always find moss growing upon the north side of a tree. Moss is a low form of plant life. It grows in the shady places where the soil is cold and damp. It does not require much sunlight, therefore grows in the absence of heat and light.

Soils that contain sufficient lime always maintain the althier forms of plant and animal life, for they are sweet and have a better ventilation.
The organisms can grow and some of these organisms have the power of utilizing the nitrogen from the air and to feed the leguminous plants.

The legumes are deeper rooted and drought resistant plants. They aid the farmer "to farm the farm above as well as the farm below," for they destroy their food from the air above and the soil below. They are the more profitable crops, yet will not grow unless the soil acidity has been destroyed by the application of lime.

Meet the Voters of Fulton County

He Was the Wild Man.
Melville Ellis, stopping off between trains in a middle West town recently, looked about for some way of passing the time until the hour of his departure. Near his hotel he discovered a "24-sheet stand" of circus bills, announcing a performance for that very day. A policeman passed.
In his most polite manner, Melville said: "Will you please tell me where I shall find the circus lot?" "Have you got anything to do with the circus?" asked the policeman, eyeing him with some curiosity. Melville's reply was a simple "Oh, yes," responded Melville. "I'm the wild man."

Traveling Man's Experience.
"In the summer of 1888 I had a very severe attack of cholera morbus. Two physicians worked over me for four
a. m. to six p. m. without giving me any relief and then told me they did not expect me to live; that I had best telegraph for my family. Instead of doing so, I gave the hotel porter fifty cents and told him to buy me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and take no substitutes. I took a double dose according to the directions and went to sleep after the second dose. At five o'clock the next morning I was called by my order and took a train for my next stopping point, a well man but feeling rather shaky from the severity of the attack," writes H. W. Ir-land, Louisville, Ky. For sale by all dealers.
